RACE OVERVIEW

3 car entry

1. Johan van Staden and Mike Lawrenson
2. Luke Botha and André Vermeulen
3. Terence Marsh and Kurt Darren

Qualifying race: 114km

Day 2: 336km

Entries: 62

Terrain: Dry and dusty

Weather: Moderate and dry

Unfortunately while setting a blistering pace during their qualifying race they experienced a crank sensor failure just 9km before the finish which put them back into the mass start for Saturday's main race.

The technical team worked through the night to ensure that they were on the start line and the guy's produced a great comeback performance to make their way through the field to finish 7th in class and 11th overall.

The guy's continued with their Desert race form as they qualified 5th overall - they continued with this pace and intensity on race day to finish 3rd in class and 5th overall!

This was their 2nd podium in a row and these guys are one of the form teams in the Championship at the moment....and only one of a few teams that have a 100% finishing record for this year!

Long may their form continue.....

TERENCE
& KURT

Taking into account this was the first time that Kurt had ever sat in the race car the guys decided to use the qualfying race as their first training session together and as such reported a nice clean and calculated run as Kurt acclimatised himself with the race car and the navigational equipment.

The guys then took this same strategy into race day and as Kurt settled into the roadbook, they lifted their pace to finish a very impressive 3rd in the international FIA class and 7th overall - this superb result takes Kurt straight to the top of the Celebrity Challenge for 2016.

I went into the weekend apprehensively optimistic and, although I love adrenaline flowing through my veins, I was diving headfirst into the unknown. What I found was a thoroughly professional team that made me feel comfortable in a strange environment and within the first hour I really felt part of the Red-Lined team. I'd like to thank the Red-Lined team for their amazing support from training to race day and beyond...and Terence for keeping me upbeat and not putting me under too much pressure but letting me understand how important my role was on race day, legend!

It was truly one of the best experiences of my life.
Thank you to all involved, really appreciate!!

KURT DARREN

Celebrity = Time Pressures = No time for training!!!
...Kurt Darren's schedule did not allow for a training session before the race which led to on the job training... he definitely gave new meaning to "performing under pressure"!

He also had a show in Johannesburg post the qualifying event...but in true Red-Lined style, nothing is too big to handle! He flew back to Jhb for a quick gig and quickly substituted make-up and lights for dust and pace a few hours later!

IN SUMMARY

Overall it was a great result for the team with all 3 cars finishing the event and more importantly two podium finishers to add to the celebrations!!!

The Grand Tour

Red-Lined Motorsport was an exclusive partner to the launch event of the much anticipated prime show, The Grand Tour, from the team that brought forth the most watched automotive show in the world, Jeremy Clarkson, Richard Hammond and James May.

We were there to do what we do best: A ride in our car as an experience of a lifetime to exclusive guests and important role players of the show.

Great marketing for our sport!

Great exposure for Nissan!

Corporate DAY

We had the privilege of opening up our world to the senior management of Nissan SA together with other important role players of our partnership. We had an open hour after this day for our other partners who could leverage this opportunity by bringing some of their clients to experience the adrenaline of our sport!
